

MOOSE BOATS INTRODUCES M3 MONOHULL TO LINE OF VESSELS

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE - Petaluma, CA. – June 14, 2011

This boat was developed as an alternative to Moose Boats' existing M1 and M2 catamaran models, which have been available in the commercial marine market since 2000. The new Moose Boats M3 mono-hull is a smaller, more nimble alternative to our catamaran models.

The M3 can be powered with a variety of propulsion options and can accommodate up to 900hp. This vessel is sturdy, agile and fast which makes it ideal for a variety of Patrol, Law Enforcement, SAR and Fire Fighting applications.

The M3 is available with various deck configurations to meet the mission-specific applications that marine professional's jobs demand. With a strong emphasis on ergonomics, situational awareness, sea-keeping ability and the highest quality construction, the M3 is an invaluable new addition to the Moose Boats line. The vessel is offered between 34'-0" and 36'-0" length overall and beam can be offered at a min. 10'-10" width.
